

financial stability

Poverty can have devastating effects on children. These effects often include bad health, developmental delays, poor school performance, teenage pregnancy, hunger, and drug dependence. The Legal Aid Society is here to help families escape poverty and achieve financial security.

help with government benefits

The Legal Aid Society can help you get the basic human services you need. We represent clients in cases regarding

- Food stamps
- Medicaid
- Medicare
- Kentucky Transitional Assistance Program (K-TAP or TANF)
- Social Security Disability
- Kinship care
- Unemployment compensation

help with consumer problems

We also help you with a wide range of consumer problems such as

Car issues. Do you believe you were unfairly taken advantage of by a car dealer?

Contract issues. Do you believe another party convinced you to sign an unfair contract?

Collections issues. Are debt collectors harassing you about a debt you don't think you owe?

help with bankruptcy

When you have no other option, we help clients file for bankruptcy when they

- Face the loss of their utilities
- May have their wages garnished
- Need to have their driver's license reinstated to maintain employment

help with taxes

We work year-round to offer legal assistance to individuals who are involved in a dispute with the IRS. In addition, we offer financial and tax education to refugees and immigrants.

help with criminal records

Having a criminal record can exclude you from certain employment and limit your housing options. We help you ask a court to remove any past convictions from your record that continue to be a barrier to employment or housing.

Our services are always free.
